Masked Men Lock Watchman in Closet and Steal a Large Sum.

When Engineer Russell Archibald arrived at the Royal laundry building, No. 625 South State street, at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, he discovered Henry Oliver, night watchman, locked in a closet and the office safe wrecked by dynamite, the robbery hav-ing been accomplished by two masked men, who entered the building about 1 A hurried examination showed that $752.40 in cash, the weekly payroll of the company, had been taken, and that checks aggregating several hundred dollars had been burned and torn. The police are without a clue and have failed to make an important arrest. Although three charges of dynamite were set off after holes had been drilled in the side of the safe, and the detonations were heard throughout the block, no police investigation was made until after the station was notified of the robbery yesterday morning. Watchman Oliver says the men must have gained an entrance through a side door. He was sweeping on the second floor when he heard the men walking and started downstairs. He was met by two masked men, who, he says, pointed revolvers and ordered him to march to a closet in the nearest room. Oliver says he was warned that he would be to the extent hereinafter provided, but no one assessment shall exceed 1/4 per cent of the amount of the capital stock herein provided for, nor shall the whole amount of the assessment levied and to be levied, in the aggregate, during the life of this corporation, as herein provided. be levied, in the aggregate, during the life of this corporation, as herein provided, exceed the amount of $7,500, nor shall assessments be levied oftener than once in ninety days. And no assessment shall be levied until the working capital hereby provided shall have been exhausted." and for the substituting in lieu thereof the following article:

"The board of directors may levy assessments in the manner provided by law

"The board of directors may levy assessments in the manner provided by law upon the outstanding capital stock of this company for the purposes of carrying on the avowed pursuits and business without first exhausting or resorting to the treasury stock; provided, however, that such assessments shall not be levied oftener than once in every three (3) months, nor shall any assessment exceed a levy of 2 per cent on the par value of the outstanding capital stock."

Second—For the striking out of article XVII, which reads as follows:

"No assessment as aforesaid shall be levied, except by order of a majority of said board of directors, and not by them unless they personally or by proxy, at the time of such levy, represent a majority of the stock of said corporation, and such levy shall be entered upon the records of the incorporation; but no such assessments shall be levied while any portion of any previous assessment remains nonaid or uncollected, except in cases
